Lake Harrisburg Ready, But Good Rains Needed

With the big Lake Harrisburg ready to catch water, let us hope that we get some rain one of these days. In spite of its watershed, in spite of its huge capacity, it isn't worth a dime until we get some good rains.

Really, we ought to be getting over our cycle of drought one of these times and enter a wet cycle, when we'll be calling up Mr. Kibler at the pumping station and asking if they've turned on the pumps yet to get the surface water on the other side of the flood wall. But that time hasn't come yet.

Right now, according to the Current Report of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, sections of southern Illinois are recovering from one of the longest and most devastating droughts in the state's history, with as many as 22 communities simultaneously critically or near-critically short of water for both home and industrial use. In a number of communities, the Chamber points out, new equipment and special water-handling facilities were required to provide even minimum requirements. We are in that category, with our special pumping and piping from Blue Lake, and the present pumping from New York Central reservoir.

An accompanying map shows the counties of the state affected by the drought and in these parts, Saline, Gallatin, White, Williamson, Pope, Hardin, Massac and Jefferson are in the group of counties where the degree of drought damage to farm crops was from "serious to disaster." Only county listed as having "disaster" to crops due to drought was Franklin. Wayne, Hamilton, Johnson, Alexander and Pulaski counties were not revealed among the drought counties, and the damage was moderate in Union and Jackson.

The article brought up a couple of humorous incidents relative to the drought.

One was this: "Did you hear about the lady who was hit in the face by a drop of water and fainted? They had to throw a bucket of dirt in her face to bring her to!"

And: "A farmer, buying canned vegetables at the height of the growing season, told his grocer: 'I hope it rains before my boy grows up. When I talk about rain, he thinks I'm confused.'"

Well, it'll rain again. And one of these days it'll start pouring and keep pouring until we hear plenty of remarks about too much rain. But when it does come, we'll be ready for it and the next time we run into one of these long periods of drought, we'll have enough stored up to carry us through in fine style.

Then, I guess, we'll have our water pressure problems greater than ever.

HEALTH DEPT.: The reporter called at the home of Uncle John, the oldest resident in the county, to interview him on the occasion of his 102nd birthday.

"To what do you attribute your great age?" the reporter asked.

"It's very simple," the old man said. "I've been taking vitamin pills since I was 39."

STOPPER: "How often have I told you not to talk with someone in your mouth," said the cannibal chief to his young son.

Says Censure Would Limit Senate Probes

New Senator from Nevada Opens Final Round of Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Ernest S. Brown (R-Nev.) told the Senate today that censure of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy would establish a dangerous precedent limiting congressional investigations.

Brown, who was appointed last summer to succeed the late Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev.) was the first speaker under a debate limitation agreement that will bring the prolonged, turbulent McCarthy censure debate to a showdown Wednesday or Thursday.

It was Brown's first major speech in the Senate.

Presenting a detailed, legal argument against censure of McCarthy, Brown made these points:

1. There is no precedent under which a senator can be censured for remarks not made on the floor of the Senate. To establish this precedent would mean that a senator has "a lesser right" than a private citizen to criticize his own government.

2. Censuring McCarthy for his conduct as chairman of the Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee would mean the Senate is "abrogating its power and authority" under the Constitution to obtain information essential for the legislative process.

3. Referring to McCarthy's alleged "abuse" of an elections subcommittee in 1952, Brown argued there is no precedent whereby one session of Congress can censure a senator for acts committed in a prior Congress.

Brown said that if the censure resolution is approved "the entire machinery of the legislative investigation may be stopped."

McCarthy's supporters claimed that the Senate's decision to bring the censure issue to a vote this week was a boost for their drive to obtain a compromise.

But other senators predicted outright censure and McCarthy himself said he expected such action.

After months of wrangling and maneuvering, the Senate unanimously agreed Monday night to put a harness on its historic debate, beginning today, and to start voting at 3 p. m. Wednesday. The final verdict may come Wednesday night or Thursday.

Fred Wasson Tells Rotarians of Trip To South America

Fred Wasson, Carrier Mills, spoke to the Rotary club at its regular noon meeting yesterday, showing pictures and telling of his recent trip to South America. Wasson was introduced by Harker Milroy.

The speaker related that the trip was sponsored by the Baptist Brotherhood but that each individual stood his own expenses. He also pointed out that it was actually a tour of the Baptist mission fields in South American countries and not a tourist's vacation jaunt.

Mr. Wasson visited mission posts in Ecuador, Peru, Chile, Argentina and Brazil before returning to the states. He said in Peru they found the Indians in greater poverty than must have been present 1,000 years ago.

In Chile, he viewed the Baptist work at both Santiago and Concepcion before winging across the Andes mountains to Buenos Aires. Later, he stopped in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. He mentioned the missionaries with whom he visited at the various outposts and also described the customs and status of the people in each country.

Prior to Mr. Wasson's talk, Principal Raymond Foster of the Harrisburg Township high school spoke briefly concerning the special election Saturday, regarding the proposition of increasing the tax rate limit for educational purposes.

It was pointed out by Mr. Foster that the high school territory has been greatly expanded in recent years and that the increased load cannot be carried on the present tax rate.

Although the election calls for an increase of from 50 to 71 cents, Mr. Foster assured members that the school board would levy only the actual amount required to meet the need.

He asked Rotarians to support the measure and to influence others to vote for the passage of the proposition.

Churchill is Honored on 80th Birthday

Friend and Foe Turn Out to Pay Greatest Tribute

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill celebrated his 80th birthday today and friend and foe alike turned out to pay him tribute greater than to any other living man.

Drums of the Grenadier Guards beat out in a thunderous tattoo of Morse code the "V for Victory" signal he made famous when he led Britain through its darkest hour to its finest in World War II.

Gifts showered upon him, the Houses of Parliament met in joint session to honor him, and from President Eisenhower, former President Harry Truman and leaders around the world came messages of congratulations.

Around him was all the pomp and pageantry of empire. Most of it was in his honor and Churchill loved it—even though it reduced the Old Bulldog to tears.

There was silence only behind the Iron Curtain.

"Memorable" Occasion Churchill told the peers and commoners assembled in ancient Westminster Hall, "This, to me, is the most memorable public occasion of my life."

The man whose face and character have come to symbolize the nation's resolute determination was blinded by tears as he spoke.

"I am now nearing the end of my journey," he said, "but I hope I still have some services to render."

There were few dry eyes among the 2,400 peers and commoners and their guests in the hall as "the old man" groped his way back to his seat beside his wife, Lady Churchill.

Only his faltering step testified to his years. His wit and accomplished turn of phrase were as youthful as ever.

Even Churchill's greatest political foe, Socialist leader Clement Attlee, declared his admiration before Parliament for the "vigorous, even obstreperous" prime minister.

"I come not to bury Caesar but to praise him," Attlee said.

The British press, with the exception of the Communist, Daily Worker which called on Churchill to "resign," joined in praising the prime minister who had led them through the blackest days of World War II to a new high standard of living.

16 Inches Snow In Colorado-Wyoming Areas

By United Press A blowing snow storm from out of the Rockies drove into the Midwest today and practically all of the nation shivered in wintry weather.

It was cold or chilly everywhere in the nation except southern Florida, southern Texas, and parts of New Mexico and Arizona.

New England was digging out from a snowy nor'easter and there was up to 16 inches of snow on the ground in Rocky Mountain passes.

The Western storm spread from southern Utah over large parts of Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming, and South Dakota. Early today it was pushing deep into western Nebraska.

Colorado was the hardest hit, with 16 inches of new snow reported on Colorado-Wyoming mountain passes and more falling.

Wyoming 130 out of Laramie was closed for the winter and the Colorado State patrol warned that highways from Colorado Springs north to Wyoming were packed with snow and dangerous.

In Wyoming all airport traffic was grounded at Cheyenne and Laramie. Numerous traffic jams were reported on snow-slicked Denver, Colo., streets.

There was one good point about the storm, however. It was the first appreciable moisture in drought-stricken Colorado-Wyoming areas in three months.

The sun came out over Los Angeles, just emerging from its worst smog attack of the year.

Mascoutah Girl Wins 4-H Congress Dress Revue Program

CHICAGO (AP)—Ima Jean Bassler, 19, Mascoutah, is the Illinois winner in the 4-H Club Congress's annual dress revue program, 4-H Club officials announced today.

Dulles Receives Support On Firm Stand Against Blockade

Secretary of State Rejects Proposal As 'War Action'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles received bipartisan support today for his firm stand against an air or sea blockade to try to force Red China to release 13 American prisoners.

Three Democratic foreign policy spokesmen—Sens. Walter F. George (Ga.), John Sparkman (Ala.) and J. William Fulbright (Ark.)—lined up with Dulles in opposition to the blockade proposal advanced by Republican Senate Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.).

Two influential Republicans—H. Alexander Smith (N.J.) and Homer Ferguson (Mich.)—also sided with Dulles although Ferguson said he would not rule out use of a blockade at some time.

In a major foreign policy address at Chicago Monday night, Dulles bluntly rejected Knowland's proposal, declaring that an air or naval blockade of Red China would amount to "war action."

"We have agreed, by the United Nations Charter, to try to settle international disputes by peaceful means in such a manner that international peace is not endangered," Dulles said. "Therefore, our first duty is to exhaust peaceful means of sustaining our international rights and those of our citizens."

The secretary did not spell out what he meant by "peaceful means." But administration officials said today the principal American effort will be to marshal world opinion against the Chinese imprisonment of the 13 Americans.

George Echoes Dulles George, who will be chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee next year, said he "thoroughly agreed" with Dulles in ruling out a blockade of Red China.

He said a blockade would "invite war and retaliation on our own people" and lead to the "speedy death" of all Americans held by the Communists.

Smith, the second-ranking Republican member of the committee, said he too generally agrees with Dulles but was disappointed the secretary did not make a "more definite statement" on what peaceful steps will be taken to free the 13 Americans.

Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.), praised Dulles' speech as being "fundamentally sound" and agreed that a blockade "might lead to all-out war."

Sparkman said "We ought to remember that a blockade is an act of war and that with a blockade we'd be inviting war." Fulbright said Dulles remarks "make good sense and as far as I can see, I support his views."

Chrysler, UAW Settle Dispute To Avoid Strike

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp. and the CIO United Auto Workers Union today settled a contract dispute which had threatened to send 30,000 employees out on strike at 7 a. m.

Announcement of the settlement came at the end of a marathon bargaining session, only one hour before the 30,000 employees of the Chrysler Body Division were scheduled to walk off the job.

Had the walkout materialized, another 10,000 Plymouth workers would have been idled almost immediately. A prolonged strike eventually would have thrown some 100,000 Chrysler employees out of work and crippled the firm's effort to regain lost ground in the auto industry's fierce competitive wars.

To Stay on Job Company and union officials, along with federal and state mediators, said at the end of their overnight negotiation session they had agreed on contract terms for 850 body division office workers. Both sides said all Chrysler workers would stay on the job while other grievances were negotiated "at the plant level through the normal channels provided in bargaining procedure."

The last-ditch talks began at 11 a. m. Monday. Except for brief lunch periods, the negotiators remained at the bargaining table until shortly after 6 a. m. today.

The agreement did not completely clear up the troubled Chrysler labor scene, however. Employees of both Plymouth and De Soto divisions have voted to strike over certain grievances.

The Plymouth and De Soto strike votes have not yet been passed upon by the UAW international union, however, and company and union privately expressed hope that the dispute could be settled before strike deadlines were set.

Doctors, Nurses Ordered to Stand By Ailing Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Doctors and nurses today began an around-the-clock watch on ailing Pope Pius XII, Vatican sources said.

These informants said the physicians and nurses had been given orders to stand by the Pope.

The Pope was said to have suffered a mild recurrence last week of the gastric disorder which plagued him all last winter.

Vatican sources said Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, the Pope's physician, had spent the last two nights in the Vatican as a precaution.

Galeazzi-Lisi saw his patient and lifelong friend Monday and called on him again this morning.

In addition, the Pope is receiving daily visits from Dr. Paul Niehans, a Swiss specialist who has been giving him special strength building treatments for 10 months.

Dr. Henry Agrees To Meet with U. of I. Trustees

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. David Dodds Henry, New York University executive vice chancellor, agreed today to meet Friday with University of Illinois trustees' representatives seeking him for president of the Midwestern school.

Henry once withdrew his name from consideration for the Illinois presidency, but the trustees at their regular November meeting Monday unanimously and "enthusiastically offered" him the post.

The university, through its Champaign-Urbana office, disclosed that Herbert B. Megran, Harrisburg, Ill., president of the Board of Trustees, talked with Henry today.

Henry said the university "would be glad to meet with him and anyone he (Megran) chose to bring with him."

Friday morning was set for the conference, and Megran will fly to New York for it.

Deliver Face-To-Face Protest To Chinese Envoy

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—U. S. Consul General Franklin Gowen, in a bitter face-to-face meeting with Red Chinese diplomat Chen Ping Monday night, protested the unlawful jailing of 13 Americans by Red China "in the strongest possible terms."

The Chinese silently wrote down every word as Gowen read the protest in the luxurious Beau Rivage Hotel and then solemnly announced that it was "unacceptable."

In diplomatic language that meant it was rejected.

But Gowen's protest undoubtedly will be forwarded to Peiping, diplomatic sources said.

Gowen charged the imprisonment of the Americans on trumped-up spy charges was a "flagrant violation" of both the Korean truce and the 1929 Geneva convention on prisoners of war.

Gowen strode into the hotel on the "neutral" shores of Lake Geneva and made his oral protest to Chen Ping, acting Chinese Communist consul general, and his deputy, Li Swang-Tze.

The face-to-face meeting demanded by Gowen on State Department orders was disclosed by American officials this morning.

The Chinese had stalled until Monday night on Gowen's challenge to step from their diplomatically immune consulate onto "neutral" territory to receive the bitter American complaint.

The call came 24 hours after the government in Peiping rejected another American protest on the 13 imprisoned Americans and handed it back to the British diplomat who had delivered it in the name of the United States.

Senator Hits Sunday 'Bargain Shopping' Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney (D-Okla.) thinks Sunday television and furniture sales are threatening to turn the nation's capital into "a Baghdad on the Potomac."

Monroney told the Senate that four Washington stores held cut-rate "warehouse" sales last Sunday on radios, television sets and furniture.

Monroney said he was "becoming apprehensive that the Sabbath is turning into a bargain shopping day in the national capital" as some stores try "to get a jump" on merchants who "observe the Sabbath and remain closed."

If this practice continues, Monroney said, it could turn Washington into "a Baghdad on the Potomac" and then spread throughout the 48 states to make Sunday a "bargain shopping day."

Begin Circulating Petitions for City Election Next Year

With the Harrisburg municipal election to be held next year, petitions of candidacy have started circulating.

At present two are in the race for police magistrate and at least one is seeking nomination for city commissioner.

Securing petitions for police magistrate are John Small, former county officer and former deputy U. S. marshal, and Charles McKenzie, elected justice of the police and acting police magistrate.

John H. L. Parish is circulating his petitions for commissioner.

The final city election will be held Tuesday, April 19, and the primary around the first of March.

Definite filing, withdrawal and primary dates will be announced later.

Gov't Attorney Opens Trial in Federal Court

Six Men, Six Women On Jury in Court Of Judge Fred Wham

EAST ST. LOUIS (AP)—Government attorneys charged today that Evan Dale, AFL czar of southern Illinois, demanded a payoff of 1 per cent of the contract price of the 100-million-dollar Joppa electrical plant to insure labor peace during its construction.

The charge was made by Asst. U. S. Atty. Edward Maag as the government began its case against Dale and James Bateman, an official of the pipefitters' local at Murphysboro, Ill. The two are on trial for trying to extort $1,030,000 from Ebasco Services Inc., original prime contractor for the project.

Maag said Dale told Thomas J. Scott Jr., supervisory engineer for the Maxon Construction Co., a subcontractor to Ebasco, that "I'm the boss down here and if you want to get along it is customary to pay me 1 per cent of the contract price for labor peace."

The huge electrical installation is owned by Electric Energy Inc., a private power combine, and provides power for the Atomic Energy Commission's gaseous diffusion plant at Paducah, Ky. Midway in construction of the project Ebasco was fired from the job because of delays.

"The Little Boys" Maag told the jury of six men and six women hearing the charges brought under the federal antiracketeering statutes that Scott went to see Dale at his Cairo office after the Maxon firm's work had been halted a number of times by labor disputes.

Maag said Dale smiled when Scott walked in and said, "They let the little boys come, see me when I expected Ebasco."

After that, Maag said, Ebasco officials went to see Dale in an effort to settle recurrent work stoppages and were told: "Go see Tom Scott and find out how to do business down here."

U. S. Dist. Judge Fred L. Wham overruled a motion to dismiss filed by John Hoban, counsel for Dale, when the trial resumed today. Hoban told the court he had learned only Monday that Dale had testified before a federal grand jury in St. Louis about the Ebasco matter and had not been informed of his rights nor been represented by counsel.

Maag said in August of 1951 Bateman and Dale met with Ebasco officials at a Cairo night club

Mantle of Greatness Fits

Editorial BY BRUCE HOSSAT

Upon few men does the mantle of greatness fit so snugly that their fellows see in their lifetime how suitable it is. But, beyond all doubt, such a man is Winston Churchill.

All free men can rejoice that their doughty champion has now attained the age of 80 years. It is good for the world when greatness endures.

Sir Winston has done more than surpass his Biblical three score and ten. He has made the last two decades of his life the most fruitful, the most triumphant of all. He has climbed mountains whose peaks younger men could not even see.

As long as free civilization exists upon this earth, the tale will be told of this man and his works.

People will hear of his unexpected brilliance of mind, of his inventive, imaginative statesmanship, his raw animal courage, his amazing breadth of interest.

They will hear how he cried out vainly but persistently against the political follies committed by free men in his own Britain and elsewhere in the bewildered era of false safety after World War I.

They will hear how he alone by force of eloquence, by transmission to others of his unquenchable spirit, lifted his countrymen to unbelievable heights of resistance against the German colossus astride the European continent in World War II.

And they will hear how he brushed off the ashes of political defeat to bring his country out of the postwar economic doldrums and to go searching for lasting peace in a world made treacherously unsafe by a mixture of communism and atomic energy.

Not even the ravages of paralytic strokes upon his aging frame could turn him away from his quest or persuade him to lay down the burden of British leadership.
He struggles on, still hopeful that his flickering energies may light the spark of real peace.

This final prize may elude him.
But even if it does, history surely will say that Sir Winston Churchill sought peace as earnestly as he prosecuted war. History will honor him for his unflagging effort in mankind's behalf.

The last lines of his story are not yet written. Who can say that, as he battles along, peering with dimmed vision toward his cherished goal, this old man will not raise new monuments to his greatness, will not give men fresh cause to be thankful they have him striving for their betterment?

So long as he draws a breath, the world may somehow gain from it.

Revival to Begin

A revival will begin Dec. 1 at the Cottage Grove Methodist church. Services will begin each evening at 7 p. m. The pastor, E. W. Fox, will bring the messages.

Further and Further Away From Civilization

The WASHINGTON
MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
"Ten Million Americans" Collect McCarthy Signatures In Unique Manner; Tension Runs
High In Some McCarthy Areas; Anyone Who Is Against McCarthy Is A Communist.

WASHINGTON. — If the Senate ever investigates how the so-called "ten million Americans" are mobilizing McCarthy petitions — which it probably won't — some interesting extracurricular methods would turn up.

In order to see how these signatures against censuring McCarthy are being collected, a representative of this column dropped in on one of the hottest Joe-must-stay centers just outside Boston. The atmosphere smacked somewhat of a football rally with undertones of the Nazi-Communist fear technique in the background.

In Newton, Mass., a loudspeaker in the home of Francis Monahan, prominent local lawyer, at 1045 Center street, blared forth invitations to passers-by to come in and sign up. From listening to the loudspeaker it appeared that the petitions were against communism rather than for McCarthy.

At near-by Woburn, Mass., 16 stores and places of business near the Woburn town square were listed in an ad in the Woburn Times where citizens were urged to go in and sign up. The places were:
Guy's Smoke Shop, Mac's Smoke
Shop, North Woburn Package Store, Dean's lunch, Joe Wells' gas station, Jerry Bennett's gas station, Bob McGuinness' South End diner, Charlie Annas' Candyland, Larry Murphy's drug store, Joe Kelleher's taxi office, Gavin's market, Doherty's package store, Anness's store, Patrick J. Gill &
Sons, Leanos restaurant and Woburn
Daily Times.

McCarthy Headquarters

In Boston, McCarthy headquarters are located at the Bradford hotel, where four or five ladies of middle age and fervent disposition were handing out McCarthy literature, chiefly copies of a Chicago Tribune story lauding McCarthy written by Willard Edwards, his most devoted journalistic booster.
The reprints usually sell for $1 for six or $25 per thousand, but the Citizens for McCarthy were handing them out lavishly.

They were also handing out petitions to anyone who would help circulate them.

"How are these signatures authenticated?" the ladies were asked. "Don't they have to be notarized?"

"No," was the reply. "We do that. You just send them in. We do the rest."

Down at the bottom of the petition, in extremely small print, much smaller than anything else,
were these words: "Important!
Be sure that all signatures and addresses are bona fide."

"What happens if we sign twice?" McCarthy committee members were asked. "There's nothing to prevent it?"

This question was met with a blank stare and a shrug. "I don't know," was the final answer.
"You're not supposed to."

CITIZENS AGAINST MCCARTHY
These usually pleasant ladies can be just the opposite on occasion.
Down the hall from McCarthy's headquarters on the fifth floor of the Bradford hotel is the studio of station WJVA where Sherman Feller, disc jockey, holds forth over the airways. Mr. Feller is a gentleman with a sense of humor plus more courage than may be good for him in an atmosphere charged with pro-McCarthy tension. When Mr. Feller saw a "Citizens For Mc-Carthy" sign on a door near his studio, he promptly put a sign over his own door which read:

"Citizens against McCarthy."
A few minutes later, the sign was torn down. So Feller took to the airways to express his views on McCarthy. A barrage of mail followed, most of it violent and un-printable.

"My phone calls have gone up 150 per cent since I got in on this McCarthy kick," he says. "The people who are against him don't bother to call me as much as the people who are for him. But when they do, they're at least civil. The others just call up and cuss me out."

"I took some of my mail in to McCarthy's headquarters to show the ladies how vicious their friends could be," continued Feller. "The ladies at Joe's headquarters had seemed rather nice and I thought they ought to know about the mail.
But when I got in there, they swarmed around me as if I were a monster. I just had to leave. I was scared."

The ladies at McCarthy's headquarters told a somewhat different story.

"That Sherman Feller's a terrible man," they said. "He came in here the other day and accosted some of the ladies. We think we have a right to our own opinions, and he shouldn't attack us for them. He's obviously just a Communist sympathizer."

By the next day, Robert J. Sullivan, professor of biology at Merrimac College, one of Joe's most ardent rooters, was telling people that Feller had come into McCar-thy's headquarters and tried to beat some of the women up.
Such is sentiment in pro-McCarthy areas in and around Boston, an atmosphere in which anyone who is against McCarthy is a Communist and in which an Associated Press reporter, when informed that 15-year-olds were signing Mc-Carthy petitions, remarked:

"I'd like to write that story, but if we did, people would start saying we were communists."

Note — This attitude is not true of the AP in other areas, however. In Milwaukee the AP dug up a story that the man who allegedly hurt McCarthy's elbow couldn't be located and that the manner of the accident remained a mystery.

McCarthy's Ride

Joe McCarthy was so sick that the Senate suspended for 10 days but he was not too sick to slip out of the Bethesda naval hospital on Nov. 25 to take a ride down Connecticut Avenue and spend the evening with friends.

McCarthy was spotted at 6:50 p.
m. in a big black Cadillac, with Wisconsin congressional license plates, between Albemarle and El-licott streets on Connecticut Avenue, driving toward Washington.
His wife, Jean, was at the wheel, and an unidentified man, possibly a bodyguard — for McCarthy never moves without one — was in the back seat.

A news inquiry at the naval hospital that night brought no admission that McCarthy had been permitted to leave. But next day Capt.
G. B. Tayloe admitted that the senator had been allowed to leave for a trip downtown. He said he did not know why the senator wanted to leave, that this was not the concern of the hospital. All it was interested in whether McCarthy was in physical condition to leave, and that he was.

Crowd Screams Support for Sen. McCarthy

NEW YORK (UP)—A crowd of 13,000 persons screamed support Monday night for Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy in his fight against Senate censure at a rally at Madison Square Garden.

McCarthy did not appear at the rally but his wife drew loud cheers of support when she stood before the meeting and asked:

"Are we about to give up the freedom of senators exposing wrongdoing and Communism wherever it may be found?"

She told the crowd that she "hoped and prayed with you that we do not lose that freedom."

The rally was arranged by Rear Adm. John G. Crommelin, who retired from the Navy in 1950 in a dispute over unification of the armed forces.

Crommelin, as chairman of the organization called "Ten Million Americans Mobilizing for Justice," reported that well over 10,000,000 signatures had been obtained on petitions opposing Senate censure of McCarthy.

He said that after one day of careful counting a firm of auditors had certified 1,150,000 names and had enough petitions still to tabulate to make a grand total of 12,000,000 or so.

Charge Censure "Red-Inspired"

The petitions asked the Senate to reject "Red-inspired" censure charges against McCarthy. They said "subversive elements" were out to destroy McCarthy and a "mistaken and unjust decision" could endanger United States security.

Roy Cohn, former chief counsel for the McCarthy subcommittee investigating Communism, spoke briefly at the rally.

"If the U. S. Senate censures Senator McCarthy it will be committing the blackest act in its entire history," Cohn said.

Crommelin told the crowd that McCarthy is the one man who has been able to arouse the people of the United States to the menace of the "hidden force in their government."

The real issue, he said, "is whether the hidden force entrenched in the executive branch of the government can end all congressional inquiry into Communist and subversive infiltration of the government."

North Carolina Doctor Named AMA General Practitioner of Year

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—Dr. Karl B. Pace, 66-year-old country doctor of Greenville, N. C., said today being named general practitioner of the year came as his "greatest surprise" and struck like a "bolt of lightning."

"All my life I have gotten a great deal of pleasure out of doing things for other people and I never expected to receive any such honor," the slender, white-haired doctor said.

Pace, who won the American Medical Assn. award Monday, said

"everything I am and I hope to be I owe to my mother who taught me to do things for other people."

He also credited his wife with being a mainstay in "my life as a country doctor." She always exerted "every effort to locate me in cases of emergency calls," he said.

WHEN EGG PRODUCTION LAGS, switch to Staley's amazing SUPER EGG ATOMS, the high-level anti- biotic laying feed with super pow- er to produce eggs. WOOLCOTT MILL, U. S. 45 & Church St. 128-5

THE Indiana senator's attack kicked off a shouting match be- tween him and Flanders in the course of which Flanders said Jen- ner was "beside himself" and had "taken leave of his intelligence."

Jenner said Flanders addressed the Communist "tyrants" in Rus- sia as "my friends, my Soviet brothers."

Flanders is a strong foe of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and Jenner is one of McCarthy's stout- est Senate defenders.

The Flanders Thanksgiving mes- sage assailed by Jenner was "an open letter to the Russian people" in which Flanders urged Soviet citizens to support free world pro- posals for ending the East-West arms race so all could enjoy the fruits of peace.

At one point in his message Flanders said "my friends — my Soviet brother."

Jenner accused Flanders of "contorted, twisted thinking" and of helping spread "peaceful co- existence propaganda."

More than 300 inmates of the hospital's criminal ward were eat- ing their evening meal when the riot began at a pre-arranged sig- nal—the toppling of a food tray.

When the worm turns, it's probably because he got instructions from the back seat.

Joey Giardello Is Suspended

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Joey Giardello, leading contender for the middleweight boxing crown, was under suspension by the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission today for being accused of beating a gasoline station attendant on the head with one of his crutches.

The alleged beating of Howard Short, 36, took place four weeks ago when Giardello was using crutches for a knee injury that cost him a crack at the middleweight title against champion Carl (Bobo) Olson. Pierre Langlois of France since was selected to face Olson at San Francisco on Dec. 15.

Commission Chairman Frank Wiener, in announcing the suspension Monday, said the 24-year-old South Philadelphia fighter will not be reinstated "until he clears himself" of the charges.

Sugar Robinson Classy in Ring Comeback

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, who returned to the ring for the first time in 28 months Monday night and appeared as classy as ever, expressed disappointment today at the fan's reaction.

"They always want blood," Robinson said. "They don't seem to realize I'm just trying to fight my self into shape. I'm not trying to knock anybody out in the first minute. It wouldn't do me any good."

Robinson, now 32, boxed six exhibition rounds in the Forum at Hamilton with Gene Burton, a 31-year-old middleweight who held decisions over Johnny Bratton and Kid Gavilan when he quit active fighting three years ago.

Robinson, the former world middleweight and welterweight champion, was so clearly superior to Burton in the exhibition that ring-siders called for him to deliver a kayo punch.

Robinson has spent the past two years as a song and dance man and his legs showed it. They never looked better. He was travelling around the ring like a cyclist, bearing in, suckering Burton into corners, running around him, chasing him, making Burton chase.

Elkhart, Ind., to Dedicate New Gym Which Will Seat 8,248

ELKHART, Ind. (AP) — A nine-day program to dedicate Elkhart's new high school gymnasium, believed to be the largest in the nation, begins Thursday.

The gym, constructed at a cost of $1,750,000, will seat 8,248 for basketball. It was financed by a holding company and will be leased to the Elkhart schools for 20 years while amortized.

Once the debt is retired, the schools will receive title to the building.

Bucky O'Connor Says Four or Five Teams Could Win Big 10 Title

CHICAGO (AP) — Bucky O'Connor, Iowa basketball coach, said any one of "four or five teams" could win the Big Ten basketball title this season.

He told the Chicago Basketball Writers Monday that "there's not one outstanding team that you have to beat, like it used to be three or four years ago with Illinois, or the last couple of years with Indiana."

O'Connor said he rated Northwestern, Minnesota, defending champion Indiana and Michigan State along with his own Hawkeyes as potential title winners.

Calufetti Still Looking For Oct. 28 Grid Game

HTHS Coach Lawrence Calufetti today said he is still looking for a football game to fill an Oct. 28 open date next fall. He would like a two-game home-and-home series with the first tilt to be played here.

STAKES FOR CASH—Doak Walker, left, is leading the Detroit Lions toward an unprecedented third consecutive play-off victory. Bert Rechichar, center, is a fine defensive back and place-kicker with the Baltimore Colts. Bob Thomason quarterback the Philadelphia Eagles. (NEA)

Looking At Sports

The groundwork has been completed for a church basketball league in Harrisburg and plans are now progressing nicely. The league will be for boys who have not reached their 19th birthday by the close of the season — and the schedule has not been drawn up at present.

Several men in Harrisburg interested in providing a recreational program for the youth of our city have discussed at various times the possibility of setting up a basketball program something on the order of the baseball program sponsored by the Kiwanis club. Church representatives indicated an interest in such a program and now it seems assured.

It will be a little late in getting underway this season — at present plans call for the first game to be played the first Monday in January and the schedule to continue for two or possibly three months. Games will be played on Monday and Tuesday nights, from 6 to 10 p. m. in the Junior high school gym, with four games each night.

Eight churches have indicated an interest in such an undertaking — Bankston Fork Baptist, First Baptist, McKinley Baptist, First Methodist, First Presbyterian, First Christian, Catholic and the Salvation Army.

It is hoped two eight-team leagues can be formed. One league for younger boys, those who have not reached their 15th birthday by the end of the season and a senior league for boys from 15 years of age but who have not reached their 19th birthday.

Four games would be played each night, two in each league. That way each team would play one game each week. At the end of the regular season a tournament would be played, with the top four teams in each league participating in an elimination playoff series.

The basic cost of operation — renting the gymnasium, which includes the use of basketballs — would be paid by the Ministerial Alliance.

Rules governing the league have not been completed, but two requirements have been agreed upon. To be eligible to play, a boy must attend Sunday school or church at least two Sundays each month and also come within the age limits.

The league will not necessarily be confined to the churches mentioned in earlier paragraphs. Any church in the Harrisburg area is invited to take part, but must signify its intentions not later than Dec. 20, so that schedules can be completed and other plans accomplished. For further details regarding the plan and to enter the league, contact Rev. Glen Daugherty, pastor of the First Christian church and president of the Harrisburg Ministerial Alliance.

UCLA Wins National Grid Title in Final Ratings; Ohio State Close Second

NEW YORK (AP) — UCLA won the national collegiate football championship today in the final 1954 United Press ratings, based on the votes of the men who know the game the best, the coaches themselves.

In a close race with Ohio State, the Pacific Coast Conference champions won out by seven points in the final ballots of the 35 outstanding coaches who make up the United Press rating board. It marked the first time in the five-year history of the ratings that a Far West team has won the No. 1 spot.

UCLA, with its first perfect record football season, was chosen as the top team by 21 of the 35 coaches. Of the 14 who did not rank the Bruins first, nine picked them for second place, four for third and one for fifth, giving UCLA a total of 328 points out of a possible 350.

Ohio State, also with a perfect season, received 11 first place votes, 20 seconds, three thirds and one fourth for a total of 321 points. It was the second closest race for the championship since the ratings were inaugurated in 1950. Maryland beating out Notre Dame last season by six points.

Oklahoma, which with UCLA and Ohio State, make up the only three major teams which went through the season with perfect records, finished in third place with 279 points, followed by Notre Dame with 232 and Navy with 187. Each of those teams received one first place vote. Like UCLA and Ohio State, both Oklahoma and Notre Dame were named on each of the 35 ballots. Three coaches left Navy off their final ballots.

College Ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — The United Press final college football ratings for 1954 with won-lost records in parentheses:

| Team | Points |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------|
| 1. UCLA (9-0) | 328 |
| 2. Ohio State (9-0) | 321 |
| 3. Oklahoma (10-0) | 279 |
| 4. Notre Dame (8-1) | 232 |
| 5. Navy (7-2) | 187 |
| 6. Mississippi (10-1) | 142 |
| 7. Army (7-2) | 107 |
| 8. Arkansas (8-2) | 81 |
| 9. Miami, Fla. (8-1) | 48 |
| 10. Wisconsin (7-2) | 36 |
| Second 10 teams — 11. Southern California, 35; 12. Maryland, 28; 13. Georgia Tech, 25; 14. Duke, 17; 15. (tie), Michigan and Penn State, 11 each; 17. Southern Methodist, 9; 18. (tie), Denver and Rice, 7 each; 20. Minnesota, 5. | |
| Others — Auburn and Virginia Tech, 3 each; West Virginia, 2; Wichita, 1. | |

Rounding out the top 10 in the final ratings for 1954 — and the United Press final ratings generally are accepted as the official ones — are Mississippi, Army, Arkansas, Miami, Fla. and Wisconsin in that order.

Thus the same 10 teams which finished in the select group last week stayed in it in the final ratings, but there were six changes. Navy, with its impressive victory over Army, jumped from sixth to fifth place with 187 points, while Army dropped from fifth to seventh with 107 points. Mississippi, seventh last week, advanced to sixth place with 109 points while Arkansas with 81 points and Miami with 48 each advanced a notch — to eighth and ninth, respectively, from ninth and 10th, respectively, last week. Wisconsin, eighth last week dropped to 10th, with 36 points.

Southern California, Ohio State's opponent in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day — the Pacific Coast and Big Ten Conference have a rule prohibiting their champions from appearing two years in a row thus barring UCLA — wound up 11th with 35 points, just one point away from making the top 10.

Bowl Teams Rank

Four of the eight teams which will appear in the four major bowl games on New Year's Day are in the top 10. In addition to Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, Navy and Mississippi will meet in the Sugar Bowl and Arkansas will face Georgia Tech in the Cotton Bowl. Georgia Tech, with 25 points, wound up 13th in the final 1954 ratings. Duke, which will meet Nebraska in the Orange Bowl, received 17 points for 14th place. Nebraska did not receive a single point from the 35 coaches.

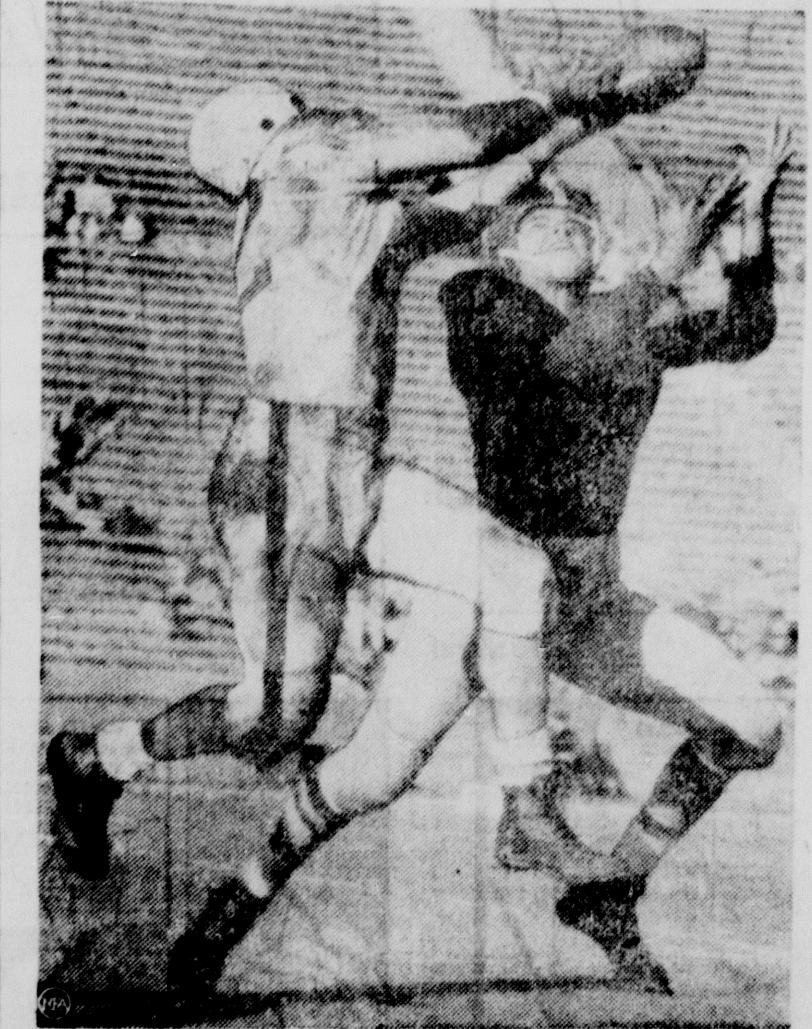

Maryland, the 1953 national champions, wound up 12th this season with 28 points.

Cairo Senior Voted Most Valuable by S-U Grid Teammates

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Cliff Johnson, senior lineman from Cairo, today was named by his teammates as Southern Illinois University's most valuable football player.

Johnson, 5-11, 185-pound guard-tackle, was named to all-conference honors his first two seasons on the squad and has started or played in every game since 1950, his first year.

For three years Johnson was a tackle and offensive blocking signal caller, but this fall Coach Bill O'Brien solved his guard problems by moving the big lineman to a guard position.

HAND IT OVER—Southern California's Emilio Hilario, No. 83, seems to be pleading with Washington's Bob Cox to let go of the ball and hand it over to him. Instead, defender Cox batted ball—a second quarter heave from the Trojans' Frank Clayton—to ground. (NEA) Horrors!

THE STORY: Greg Seaver, a young man who wants to do things on his own, has left the security of working for his stepfather to become the chauffeur of Wade Dargett, a wealthy invalid. Dargett has not long to live and he wants to see the country. Traveling in a car and trailer, they rescue Rupert Landusky, an alien who was smuggled into the country, from a possible death by starvation and exposure. Then at a carnival grounds in a Maine town Greg meets a girl who has just been robbed.

The girl brushed back the wind-blown hair again. "My handbag contained $300 in new $10 bills with a rubber band around them. A handkerchief, compact, lipstick, mirror, about 50 cents in a coin purse." She stopped to think and went on rapidly. "A comb, some stamps, a package of cigarettes and some matches, hairpins, an envelope with a recipe for waffles written on it, a package of adhesive tape, a couple of snapshots, a pencil, a—"

Greg was laughing when the policeman interrupted. "I get the idea." His eyes traveled slowly from Greg to the girl. "Three hundred dollars in new bills." He waited but the girl made no explanation. "What's your address?" She was startled. "My address? Why?"

"So I can notify you." "I—you can reach me at the hotel—at least for tonight." "Name?"

"Hannah Blake." He closed his notebook. "We'll let you know if we find your bag," he said and walked off.

In a way, Greg did not blame him. The girl's story did sound strange. Women didn't go to a fair carrying $300 in cash. "Well, that's that. I'm afraid it hasn't helped much."

"Thanks, anyway. You've been very kind."

She looked so disconsolate that Greg was sorry for her. A city girl, Greg thought, would know what to do, but this hick just stood helpless and apathetic, her pale hair blowing across her white face.

"Look here, can I lend you the money to go home?" "I can't go home."

"But—"

As though driven beyond the point of endurance she cried, "Oh, let me alone! Why can't you let me alone?"

"Sorry," Greg said stiffly. He touched his hat and walked away.

That was a girl for you. That was what you got for trying to be helpful. Do the best you can and then she yells at you. She could look after herself so far as he was concerned. Let her work out her own problems. Anyhow, it had nothing to do with him. He wouldn't give her another thought.

He walked on, thinking that he would not think of her. Who could she have stolen the money she would have tried to convince him of her honesty, wouldn't she?

What did a girl do in a strange town when she had no money? Oh, darn, he said in annoyance, and he turned back.

She was standing where he had left her, a big girl with pale blond hair and unexpectedly dark blue eyes, the collar of her cheap cloth coat turned up around her face.

Greg went up to her. "I'm sorry," he began.

"I'm sorry," she said at the same moment, and they both laughed.

"I don't mean to be a nuisance," Greg said shyly, "but I can't figure out what you ought to do."

"Neither can I."

"Do you know anyone around here?"

She shook her head. "That's why we chose Forrestville." Seeing his blank expression she added, with an attempt at bravado that failed to come off. "All right, I was going to elope. I left a note for my family and drew all my money out of the savings bank. We were going to meet here where no one knew us and get married."

"Didn't he come?" Greg asked gently.

"There was a letter waiting for me at the hotel. It was all a joke. Her voice quavered. "Very funny, isn't it?"

"It's lousy," Greg thought for a moment. He couldn't leave the girl standing around a carnival without any money or any place to go. "I'll tell you what. Let's see whether we can find your thief."

There was not a chance of finding the thief, but it would take the girl's mind off her troubles.

"But—"

He tucked his hand under her

21,586 Illinois Vets in School or Training Under Korean GI Bill

CHICAGO (AP)—Robert A. Beer, manager of the Veterans' Administration regional office, said today that fall enrollments of Illinois veterans training under the Korean GI bill have more than doubled the high point reached a year ago.

They show signs of going higher, he said.

On Nov. 1, trainees under the bill totaled 21,586, a record. About half, or 10,353, were attending college and the others were training in below-college-level schools, on-the-job and on-the-farm. The total was more than twice that of last year's figure of 10,440 veteran trainees.

arm so they would not be separated. She was nearly as tall as he and walked with an easy, long-legged stride.

Apparently she had absorbed most of her shock and she began to think outside her own catastrophe. "Are you a stranger here, too?"

"In a way. I was born in Maine but I don't live here any more."

"Where do you live?"

It occurred to Greg, with a shock of surprise, that he was a man without an address. His imagination toyed with the idea of letters addressed: Gregory Seaver Esq., The Trailer, God Knows Where.

"Right now I'm just sight-seeing," he hedged.

Greg stole a look at her. She appeared less heartbroken over having been jilted than like a small child who had lost her mother in a crowd.

"You don't go sight-seeing all the time, do you?"

"No, I have to earn a living. I am—I did clerical work."

"Is that interesting?"

"It is for some people," Greg replied, restive at this aimless probing.

"But not for you," she said in a tone of assurance.

A SWITCH OF THE PITCH -AND AWAY YOU GO!

The biggest sensation in years is what

"variable pitch propellers" have done for Dynaflo Drive*

It happens like this. You need a pickup—and pronto. So you get it. You get it by pushing the accelerator pedal of a 1955 Buick all the way to the floor board.

Then—without jerk or lag or lurch or pause—you get action! You get action whether you're just starting off—or asking for a safety-surge of power out on the highway.

There's nothing like it in past experience—because there has never been anything like it in an automobile before.

This is action that comes from the principle of variable pitch propellers used on modern planes. Their propeller blades change "pitch" for take-off—and cut hundreds of feet off the time required to lift a plane from a runway.

And the amazing fact is—in a 1955 Buick Dynaflo Drive there are 20 little propeller-like blades that also change their pitch, just like the propeller blades of a plane.

This is a transmission engineer's dream of heaven. A build-up of momentum as smooth as flowing oil—and almost as quick as light.

—plus better gas mileage in cruising range. It's what the whole automobile industry has been shooting for—and Buick has it.

So, that means there's only one thing for you to do. Try out a 1955 Buick, and soon.

Try it out for quick action, as we've mentioned. Try it out for room and comfort and ride. And by all means, cast an admiring eye on its style—for it beats the high-fashion Buicks which set the pattern in the successful year just ended.

We're waiting and eager to hear from you soon. So drop in—or give us a call. We promise you a thrill that no other car can deliver.
